Kurt comments, “We were looking for a product that would supply 5.1 on an SDI link. Prior solutions we employed had some video latency issues. We made our decision on the advice of Cutter Stevens and our history with Bluefish, and it seems to have solved our problem. It is our primary IO card for editorial. The system we use is an Avid based PC linked to a 10bit monitor and an AV receiver supplying a client monitor and a set 5.1 of passive speakers.”

He continues, “Our history with the Bluefish444 products we have owned have been positive overall. The longevity our company enjoyed with the original card and the flexibility of the current generation of cards indicates to me that Bluefish is amazingly focused on quality and functionality. We will continue to develop and produce independent film and animation.”
